The Possibilities of Development At Metro Site Pondered by CFG

by James Giese

Private development upon the Greenbelt Metro Station parking lot and the adjacent A. H. Smith property to the south, the constraints placed upon such development, and the planning process to be used to determine the nature and extent of development that will be permitted was the subject of the program at the Citizens for Greenbelt September 24 meeting. Chaired by president Harriet Phelps with Rick Meetre acting as moderator for the panel, the small group of citizens who attended the meeting heard a presentation from Frank Derro, Chief, Transportation and Public Facilities, Planning Division (M-NCPPC) on the planning process for the Transportation District Overlay Zone (TDOZ) and a presentation from city planning consultants, Kim Paniati and Daniel Maletic of Greenman Pederson Incorporated (GPI) who gave their preliminary findings on constraints to development at the METRO site and the Smith property.

Development Constraints

Prior to introducing Paniati and Maletic, Meetre read a short statement from City Planner Celia Wilson who advised that the city had retained GPI as its consultants to assess the current condition of public facilities in the area of the Metro station and to determine the impact of additional development and to determine how much additional development might be accommodated. The GPI study is still in its early stages and the information provided Thursday evening was preliminary.

In the GPI presentation, Paniati placed overlays upon a map of the area in question to depict the location of wetlands, flood plains, and different soil conditions. Paniati concluded that any area of Metro to be developed would be limited to the area already under development for the station and parking lots and that the remainder of the property was either wetlands, flood plain or both. The actual area for development would probably be limited to the area of the very large 3,300-car Park and Ride parking lot, she observed, noting that the lot could be replaced with a parking structure, thereby freeing the remainder of the area for development.

At a floor to area ratio of 0.5, which is the typical requirement for eight story office buildings, approximately one million square feet of office space could be constructed on the estimated 25 acres that would be available. While Paniati found soil conditions to be "clay," "kind of mucky" and "not that great," they would not prevent development, but could increase the cost of construction.

GPI also found that the A. H. Smith property was about 50% flood plain and wetland. This leaves an estimated 17 acres that could be developed: located in two areas, one a small parcel on Cherrywood Lane across from the Springhill Lake Apartments and the other in the southwestern section of the property where the present asphalt plant and company office facilities are located. The latter property will not be included in the TDOZ if the M-NCPPC planning staff has its way as it is considered beyond convenient walking distance of the station.

Although the area for potential development lack water and sewer service at present, adequate facilities are nearby, and Paniati considered it simply a "matter of procedure" for service to be extended.

GPI noted that problems would be created by the impact of new development upon area traffic. "There are nine intersections that would be impacted," Paniati advised. The consultants noted that five intersections will become substandard and require improvements or signalization as a result of development now taking place or planned for Capital Office Park. (See separate story on traffic signals in this issue). If a million square feet were to be built, Edmonston Road between Cherrywood Lane and the Beltway would fail to be adequate in design and need to be improved.

Paniati also noted the need to extend bicycle paths into the area. "At present, one path from the east ends on Edmonston Road near the Police Station and another from the south which follows Indian Creek ends south of Greenbelt Road. Besides extending these two paths, she felt that there needed to be improved access from Springhill Lake.

Betsy Likowski asked how likely it was that the Metro parking lot would be converted to offices. Maletic responded that a Metro site is more likely to get office buildings than other sites, but that given the present economic conditions such development was not likely for the near future.

Planning Process

In his presentation, Derro advised that the TDOZ does two things. It creates a physical delineation of a district and within the district, a transportation district development plan is then

FIVE SIGNALS NEEDED FOR GREENBELT WEST

by James Giese

"Who's going to put them there?" a concerned Mayor Gil Weidenfeld asked city consultants Kim Paniati and Daniel Maletic of Greenman Pedersen, Inc. concerning five new traffic signals for the city. As a result of development now under construction, the consultants said at the Thursday, September 24 Citizens for Greenbelt meeting, five intersections in Greenbelt West will fall below satisfactory service levels without traffic signals. Three of the intersections occur on city-maintained streets. Among the new development now under construction are a new giant Giant food store and an enlarged mall at the Beltway Plaza, the federal courthouse and the METRO-MARC station, all of which have access to Cherrywood Lane, a city street.

Paniati responded by noting that the state capital improvement program included installing a signal at Cherrywood and Edmonston Road (Kenilworth Avenue), a state highway. Development FIVE SIGNALS, page 2, c1

Fall Hazardous Waste Collection Day October 18

The county's Department of Environmental Resources (DER) will hold the Fall Hazardous Waste Collection Day on Sunday, October 18 from 8 a.m. to 3 p.m. at the Metro fringe parking lot on Northview Drive, Bowie. The event will be held rain or shine.

Household hazardous waste includes used motor oil, automotive batteries, pesticides, photographic materials, household cleaners, solvents and oil-based paints.

Jennifer Fraser Crowned Miss Greenbelt at Festival

by Sandy Smith

Jennifer Fraser, a sophomore at Eleanor Roosevelt High School, is the 1992 Miss Greenbelt. Crowned during the pageant which is a highlight of the annual Labor Day Festival, Jennifer was also selected Miss Congeniality by the other pageant participants.

Jennifer's family includes her mother Susan, older brother Eddie, and three dogs. She enjoys spending time with her family and friends and said that the best part of the pageant was becoming good friends with the other girls. She said the practices over the summer were fun and she is looking forward to her duties as Miss Greenbelt. During the year she will take part in various community ceremonies and activities.

She has a career goal in cosmetology, specializing in services for cancer patients. In the talent portion of the pageant, she delivered an original speech on the Greenbelt Recreation Department and its contribution to the city. Jennifer was sponsored by the Miss Kava Teen Club for the pageant.

Runners-up

Melissa Mays, sponsored by Lakeside Sandwich and Boating, was selected first runner-up. Christine Patsas, second runner-up, was sponsored by the Glen Oaks Apartments. Cheryl Martin won the Pageant Award for her overall contribution to the pageant. She was sponsored by the Greenbelt Credit Union. Jennifer McMichael, sponsored by Generous Joe's, was selected Miss Photogenic. Rounding out the contestants were Samantha Mulkey, sponsored by the American Legion, and Kirsten Winter, sponsored by Dr. Alvin Larsen.

Pageant sponsors make the Pageant possible each year. In addition, the pageant contestants hold fund-raisers to defray expenses. The summer is spent in community activities, rehearsals, special outings, learning experiences, and fun occasions. A special part of this year's pageant was the awarding of a scholarship from the Greenbelt Co-op to Miss Greenbelt, according to Natasha Chavrid-Jewell who has chaired the pageant for several years. She said that the pageant hopes to involve additional community and business groups in the scholarship portion of the pageant next year.

Recycle Those Books

Once again, the phone company is distributing new phone books to city residents. Considered citywide, these books represent a tremendous volume of refuse. Residents can take their old phone books to the city recycling center, surely a better option than adding them to the rapidly filling county landfills. Please take a few minutes to do your part.

FIVE SIGNALS

ers of Capital Office Park will be required to install a light at Ivy Lane and Edmonston Road when they undertake construction of the next office building, one of three to be constructed on the northwest side of Cherrywood Lane. When the second building is ready to be constructed, the developers will be required to install a signal at Ivy Lane and Cherrywood Lane. This leaves two intersections of city streets below par—Cherrywood Lane at the METRO access road and Cherrywood Lane at Breezewood without any plans for signals to be installed. Paniati advised that the city could install these signals at its own expense or push for someone else to do it.

Mayor Weidenfeld then sat down to contemplate whom the city could push.

According to Paniati, the need for signals is not the only problem, when the three additional office buildings at Capital Office Park are built, two signalized intersections will fail—Cherrywood Lane at Greenbelt Road and Cherrywood Lane at Edmonston Road. "These intersections will have to be redesigned and it will be necessary to take additional right-of-way," she informed the audience.

Discussion of potential improvements to intersections did not extend to other improvements necessary to accommodate the intensive development being considered for the A. H. Smith property south of the new METRO station. (See story on development considerations as related to the transportation district overlay zone in this issue).

Maryland-National Capital Park and Planning Commission Chief Planner for Transportation and Public Facilities, Frank Derro, who also spoke at the meeting, commented later that traffic signals were "cheap" when consideration is given to other traffic improvements to public facilities that might be required to accommodate new development. He noted in particular the cost for widening roads and expanding bus service.

Update

While I am not the letter writer that Faye is, I will try to relay to you what has recently happened.

On Monday, October 5 she learned there was a possibility of a lung. We went home and waited. At 8:25 Dr. Zorn called and asked if we would like to come to the hospital. Two doctors came in and said, "We have been told it is going to be at 1 a.m."

At 5:15 a.m. I heard a helicopter fly in, which I later found out carried Dr. Zorn and Faye's new lung. At 7:15 a.m., I got a call in the waiting room saying that the major portion of the surgery had been completed and that Dr. Zorn would be calling me shortly, and that Faye was in satisfactory condition.

Dr. Zorn came down and told me that the operation went like a textbook procedure and that Faye was in good condition. We went to Surgical Intensive Care Unit and there she was, not her usual vibrant self but alive and well.

Now almost three days later she is recuperating excellently. They expect her to have a room on the pulmonary ward about the 18th of this month. She cannot have any mail or visitors until that time because of infection. The way I understand it, and I could be wrong, it looks like she will be in the hospital for a month and then we must still remain in Birmingham for three months, so that they can test her for rejection of the lung and other conditions that accompany such a drastic operation.

I know that we could not have made it this far without all the prayers and support that you have all given us.

We will try to give a more complete update as things progress.

Keep us in your prayers.

Tragedy

On the afternoon of Tuesday, October 6 there was a terrible tragedy on Greenbelt Road near the school bus lot. A very special young girl lost her life when struck by a car. The family and friends of Shelby V. Cole will cry, pray and miss this beautiful person who touched their lives. They will also try very hard to have a pedestrian overpass put over Greenbelt Road.

Children cross Greenbelt Road every day going to and from school and the speed limit is too fast. When Giant moves to Beltway Plaza, others will cross unsafely. Plans for this overpass have already been made for quite a while, but due to lack of state and county funds, it has not been done.

Now as family, friends, parents, children and citizens, we all need to ask, "Why not?" Please take the time to write your mayor, county representative and congressman. Ask them why not and let them know there is a desperate need for this overpass before other valuable lives are lost. Greenbelt Road is very congested and no place to try to cross. Please help this family make their loss have a purpose.

Trash Dump

I wish they could remove the bin of the American Rescue Workers in the Co-op parking area. I see clothing and other items scattered everywhere around this bin and it really looks awful. I've seen this many times. I have read complaints in the News Review from other people so I know that others feel the same way. It makes the area look worse than a trash dump. I hope something can be done and will be done to remove this unsightly mess. Perhaps the American Rescue Workers could set up a specific collection place in an area where they can collect items easier and not be in a congested parking lot.

Directors' Duties

Some members of GHI apparently have a unique idea of directors' duties. Directors do not manage. They are elected to direct.

Their duties involve, under severe legal penalties for improper actions:

Directing and supervising a competent professional staff to manage the organization.

Establishing regular training programs to inform directors.

Establishing a code of ethics. Setting policy, defining objectives and goals.

Making regular reviews of progress on programs.

Developing personnel policies.

Approving budgets for all operations, purchases, receipts and disbursements.

Monitoring the fiscal operations on purchases, receipts and handling of funds, banking, and investments.

Evaluating staff performance.

Insuring conformance to statutes and bylaws.

Retaining auditors and legal advisors to protect members' assets.

Establishing and maintaining the continuity of programs to preserve and protect plant, equipment and assets.

Providing for adequate insurance.

Keeping members informed on a regular basis.

Reporting to the members annually on their performance.

Fair Share

Property owners throughout Prince Georges County are seeing an increase in their WSSC bills—and they want to know why. The straightforward answer is that the efforts of the Montgomery and Prince Georges Councils to minimize these rate increases were defeated by a vote of the Prince Georges County delegation to the Maryland House of Delegates.

Prior to 1985 WSSC charged all new development a fee to pay for the infrastructure built to serve new development. When developers sued, the courts ruled that the State Legislature had to first authorize the fee. Without these revenues (nearly $10 to $15 million annually), WSSC had to turn to its only other revenue source—its customers.

The Prince Georges and Montgomery County Councils had hoped to avoid substantive rate increases by imposing a development fee on new development.

New development continues to expand the size of the system and increase capital costs. By charging new development for its fair share of these costs, we have, in the past, kept rates very stable. Without this option, however, the rate fluctuates and double digit rate increases have and will continue to result.

The proposed fee, for new customers only, is called a Systems Development Charge, or SDC. It is fair to all parties and will help keep water and sewer rates down. Most surrounding jurisdictions already have the equivalent of SDC and, in fact, some of them have not had a significant rate increase for several years.

If you, the customers of the WSSC, seem apathetic to rate increases, then the legislators will rightfully assume that the passage of SDC is of little importance to you. But if enough of you take the time to let your elected officials know you support SDC for the reasons listed above, I believe the measure will pass. The charge is fair, it is equitable, and ultimately will benefit all water and sewer customers in the bi-county area known as the Sanitary District.

A public hearing on this bill will be held by the Prince Georges Bi-County Committee on November 4 at 7 p.m. in the M-NCPPC Building, 6600 Kenilworth Avenue, Riverdale.

Please call your elected representatives in Annapolis or attend the public hearing. Let them know that you have already paid for the cost of growth that your home or business added to the system and that, in equity, tomorrow's new customers should do the same.

Chairman, Prince Georges County Council

Arts Center's Season Begins With "The Children's Hour"

by Sandy Smith

The Children's Hour is the first dramatic production of the Greenbelt Arts Center's 1992-93 play series. The Arts Center chose this play in order to open its season with a classic drama of timeless impact. The prize-winning play by Lillian Hellman is widely praised for its dramatic intensity and psychological insight. It tells the story of a girl who spreads rumors about her teachers and their relationships, showing the damage of false accusations.

The play opens Friday, October 23 at 8 p.m. and runs Fridays, October 30 and November 6 and Saturdays, October 24 and November 7 at 8 p.m. A Sunday matinee will also be held at 2 p.m., November 1. All performances are at Berwyn Presbyterian Church, 6301 Greenbelt Road, almost across the street from Beltway Plaza. There is plentiful and free parking. For reservations and directions call the Arts Line at 441-8770.

"Children's Hour" is directed by Ed Starr. Frank Perlman is producer and Virginia Zanner, tech director. Hopi Auerbach is costume designer/coordinator. The cast includes five young women who director Starr says are among the finest young actresses with whom he has worked. Some are veterans of the Arts Center's children's productions and are building their knowledge of and interest in the theater.

The leads are played by Julie Eckardt, as Martha, and Mary Monet, who plays Karen, the school teachers beset by false rumors. Meverette Smith plays the young student Mary, and Lauren Zambreny, her friend Rosalie. The grandmother, Mrs. Tilford, who gets caught up in the plot, is played by Madeline DeVan.

Individual tickets are available for this performance, in advance or at the door. Discounts are available for seniors and students. This play is also offered as part of the season series.

Other Productions

In addition to "Children's Hour," season ticket holders will see "The Caine Mutiny Court Martial," a familiar play, twice made into movies. Director John DeMeo intends to audition women as well as men for this courtroom drama. Auditions will be held in November for this February production.

The Arts Center's spring production is "The Small of My Mind," a premiere performance of Greenbelt resident Bruce McDade's delightful comedy. Set in southwestern Virginia, it is based on characters in his family and the family's neighbors. The play is a product of the Arts Center's New Playwright's Project. Laughter and poignancy are rolled into one for viewers of this original drama. This production is supported in part by a special project grant of the Prince Georges Arts Council.

Openings for Actors, Workers

The 1992-93 season also includes the Festival of Lights Special: three holiday one-act plays, produced by David Wilson. Auditions have been held for these plays but interested actors and actresses should contact the Arts Center to see if openings remain.

There are openings to direct, produce or provide technical support for these productions. Volunteers for many aspects of the production need not be trained but interested and willing to learn. This is an opportunity to learn the theater first-hand and to see what happens backstage. Contact the Arts Center to learn more.

Beautification Awards Given to Greenbelters

by Barbara Likowski

Five of Prince Georges County's 1992 beautification awards went to Greenbelt including two of the three judges' recognition awards. These went to Imogene Byerly of 6 Ridge Road and Allie and Adele Lee of Empire Place.

Byerly was named Gray Gardener of the year. Approaching her neat, well cared-for yard one sees a well-planned border of seasonal flowers. In the back-ground is a grape arbor with a bench underneath it where one can sit and enjoy the birds and flowers. In the backyard a huge tree—high wisteria catches the eye. The yards are simple, colorful, neat and emanate tranquility.

Named Community Gardeners Extraordinaire Allie and Adele Lee not only produced a beautiful garden of their own but worked on the common area behind their home. They planted evergreen trees (hollies) and made steps through their property to the common area to evenly disperse the waterflow in an effort to stem erosion that occurs in that area. Allie removed poison ivy, thorns, and vines and also trash that had accumulated in the common area. They made walking trails to protect the trees and were able to save a large natural dogwood tree that a falling tree had leveled.

In the community category, the City of Greenbelt won its award for the newly planted entrances to the city and the display in front of the municipal building. These displays, ever colorful and attuned to the seasons, are the work of city horticulturist, Bill Phelan, and his crew. Many Greenbelters have praised these plantings.

The Greenbelt Marriott received an award in the business and industrial complex category. The award was given for the established landscaping and plantings around the Marriott.

Superior sustained maintenance was the award given to the Springhill Lake apartments for the neatly arranged, well-cared for plants, flowers and trees throughout the complex.

County Executive Parris Glendening presented the awards to the winners at a ceremony September 23 in Upper Marlboro. The beautification contest was open to anyone who worked to enhance property within Prince Georges County. The projects were judged by nationally accredited members of the Landscape Design Critics Council of the National Capital Area Federation of Garden Clubs.

approved and adopted. This plan sets the changes in zoning and development requirements over the existing zoning regulations. As an example, parking regulations which are normally 2.5 spaces for each 1,000 square feet of building area could be reduced to as low as 1 space per 1,000 s.f.

To initiate a TDOZ, the county council tells the planning board to delineate the boundaries of such a zone. After that is done, a multi-disciplined Transportation District Development Plan team will be formed. The team will contact property owners to determine what they have in mind in the way of developing their property. "We will bring in citizens in order to find out what their goals and views are at an early stage," he announced. This will be done at an earlier stage in the process than was done for West Hyattsville in order to develop a better relationship and trust between the citizens and owners and the planning team. "We will look at school capacities, police and fire facilities and all other public facilities," he pointed out. so that the team can determine what improvements are needed if development is to occur.

After the team has heard from everyone, it will go into "hiding" in order to come forth with a number of optional plans for the TDOZ. "Then we will again meet with everyone in order to get feedback," Derro advised. After that the team will come up with one plan which will again be reviewed and altered to become a "consensus" plan supported by most, but not necessarily everybody.

Once the plan is published there will be a public hearing by the planning board and one or more public hearings by the county council. Depending on certain actions which it can take, the county council will have from five to eight months to take action on the plan. If it doesn't, the process dies and they have to start over again.

Derro responded to a number of questions from the audience expressing concerns about development in the area. He noted that not all development was bad, that he lived in a house built by developers, went shopping at stores built by developers and drove over streets built by developers. He said the planning process would have to involve give and take. For example, in order to get improvements to Indian Creek, extensions of bike paths and street improvements paid for by the developers, they will need something in return in the way of rights to develop their property. In the final analysis, the cost of development will have to be competitive to the cost of developing other property that might be available for development, if it is to occur. He also noted that development might not necessarily be commercial or office facilities, but could be residential.

Derro expects that the first meeting to obtain citizen input on the TDOZ will be held in Greenbelt in about a month's time.

POLICE BLOTTER

Based on Information
Released by the Greenbelt
Police Department

Responding to a report of an erratic driver in the area of Kenilworth Avenue and Greenbelt Road around 8:30 p.m. on September 20, an officer found marijuana in the reported vehicle. The driver, a 44-year-old nonresident man, was arrested and charged with possession of marijuana and driving under the influence of a controlled dangerous substance. He appeared before a District Court Commissioner and was held on $1,000 bond pending trial.

A 23-year-old nonresident man with an open arrest warrant with the Prince Georges County Sheriff's Department was arrested and charged with possession of cocaine with intent to distribute on September 26 after his vehicle was stopped in the 6200 block of Breezewood Drive for a traffic violation. The man appeared before a District Court Commissioner and was held on $20,000 bond pending trial.

A 25-year-old nonresident man was arrested and charged with possession of drug paraphernalia after he was found to have a pipe such as is commonly used to smoke crack cocaine. The pipe was discovered during an investigation of a suspicious person at the Sports Authority on September 30. He was released on citation pending trial.

A 19-year-old nonresident man was arrested and charged with theft, transporting a handgun in a vehicle, driving with a suspended license, and giving a false and fictitious name to a police officer. The vehicle the man was driving was stopped for a traffic violation in the area of Kenilworth Avenue and Crescent Road around 2:45 a.m. on October 2; the man was unable to produce any identification or a driver's license, and police found a stolen Colt .45 semi-automatic handgun in the vehicle. The man appeared before a District Court Commissioner and was held on $5,000 bond pending trial.

Investigation of a man reported near a construction site in the 6500 block of Cherrywood Lane around 12 a.m. on October 3 resulted in the arrest of a 30-year-old nonresident, charged with possession of marijuana with intent to distribute, possession of psilocybin mushrooms (which are hallucinogenic) with intent to distribute, possession of phenylhydrazine (PCP), and possession of drug paraphernalia. He appeared before a District Court Commissioner and was held on $40,000 bond pending trial.

Responding to a report of a violent domestic fight in the parking lot of Denny's Restaurant around 2 a.m. on October 4, an officer saw a man assaulting a female. When the officer attempted to stop the assault, the man became loud and disorderly and hit the officer with his fist. Then the man, a 30-year-old nonresident, was arrested and charged with battery, resisting arrest, disorderly conduct, and malicious destruction. He appeared before a District Court Commissioner and was held on $2,500 bond pending trial.

Police recovered a 1981 Oldsmobile Cutlass in the parking lot of Beltway Plaza around 4 a.m. on October 4.

Vandalisms to, thefts from, and attempted thefts of autos were reported in the following areas: the 6100 block of Breezewood Court, the 7000 block of Greenbelt Road, 13 Court Hillside Road, the 7800 block of Mandan Road, 22 and 56 Courts Ridge Road, and the 7800 block of Walker Drive.

Pedestrian Killed On Greenbelt Road

As 12-year-old Shelby Cole of Berwyn Heights was trying to cross Greenbelt Road south towards 63rd Avenue around 5 p.m. on October 6, she was struck by a passenger vehicle traveling west on Greenbelt Road. A Greenbelt Middle School student, she was taken to Children's Hospital Center, where she died. The driver of the vehicle that hit her suffered no injuries. No charges have been placed pending further investigation.

(Based on information provided by the Greenbelt Police Department).

Car-jacking Attempt

A citizen was the victim of an attempted "car-jacking" on Monday, October 12 at approximately 12:45 a.m.

The citizen advised that his vehicle was stopped at a traffic light in the 7200 block of Hanover Parkway at Ora Glen Drive when a subject approached the driver's side of his vehicle, displayed a black colored semi-automatic handgun and told the victim to get out of his vehicle. The man immediately drove away from the scene, and the suspect fled the area on foot.

The suspect is described as follows: a black male in his 30's, 5'9", 165 pounds, with black hair. He was last seen wearing dark blue jeans, a blue "T" shirt, and a dark blue jacket. The victim was not injured.
